

To Whom It May Concern,

This letter serves as an official statement from AudioDefine Records and Same Great Sound, confirming the authorised use of all audio content released under our labels on platforms such as YouTube, Twitch, and other similar services.

We, the undersigned, affirm that all audio released by AudioDefine Records and Same Great Sound is permitted for use in video and live streaming content, without restriction. Any claims of copyright infringement, content matching, or usage limitations should be disregarded, as creators have been granted explicit permission to include our music in their works.

Our labels are committed to supporting creators and ensuring that they have the freedom to use our audio in a manner that aligns with their creative projects. In the event of a false copyright claim or content match, we encourage the platform to release any content that has been incorrectly flagged, as such claims do not reflect our policies.

Please note: Any content matching or copyright infringement notices related to the audio catalogue of AudioDefine Records or Same Great Sound are invalid and should be dismissed.

For further inquiries or to verify this authorisation, please contact us directly at contact@audiodefined.com

Thank you for your attention to this matter.
Sincerely,

Cask J. Thomson
